THE REAL LIFE

Of Joy And Success Experienced By Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Hendrick of Clover Creek.

Mr. Zeno Hendrick, one of the substantial and successful farmers of Clover Creek neighborhood, made his annual trip to Louisville Monday to sell his tobacco. He was accompanied by his youngest son, Mr. Hendrick, assistant cashier of the Farmers Bank at Hardinsburg.

Mr. Hendrick is in his seventy-sixth year and has been a hard worker since boyhood. He told the News that he hadn't missed twenty months from sickness in his whole life and up to this time he has made a hand in the field and put in his usual hours of work. This year he will lay off to take things easier and let the boys try their strength.

In speaking of the high price of hogs at this time, he said way back in the sixties he drove a good bunch of hogs to Cloverport and sold them to Vest & Walter for eleven cents. He says farming is not what it used to be on account of the scarcity of labor and the price paid to hands.

Mr. Hendrick is enjoying fine health for his years. His wife is in good health and strong for her years. Ten children have come to them, all of whom are living and doing well and are quite a comfort in their old age.

FATAL SHOOTING AT IRVINGTON

Gus Adams Was Shot and Killed By Father-in-Law As Result Of Quarrel.

ADAMS BURIED SUNDAY.

Alonzo Dowell and Gus Adams engaged in an altercation Friday afternoon at their home near Irvington, in which Dowell shot and killed Adams, the bullet taking effect in the abdomen. Adams died immediately. The cause of the quarrel is said to have been the rent of a farm which Adams was renting from Dowell.

Adams was a son-in-law of Dowell, and leaves a wife and one child. Dowell was arrested by Marshall Dave Henry, of Irvington. He was taken to Hardinsburg Saturday to await his trial. Dowell was well-known in Made and Breckenridge counties.

The funeral of Adams was held at his old home at Woodland, near Vine Grove, Sunday the interment took place in the cemetery there. Adams was about twenty-eight years of age.

FARMERS UNION

Met At Harned And Received Bids For Tobacco—Makes Successful Sale Of Burley.

The selling committee of the Farmers Union met at Harned Monday to receive bids on about 250,000 pounds of dark tobacco pledged to that organization. They had several bids but none were accepted.

This Union made a successful sale of their Burley to Ben Clark, most all of which has been delivered, and the best feature about the sale, all were pleased. Mr. Martin, Mr. Clarkson's grader, says he never dealt with men who were fairer and more willing to do the right thing than the graders selected by the farmers to look after the grading. He said they had no trouble and no hitch in any of the grades. The graders for the Union were W. G. Lawson and Thos. Mercer.

The members of the Union are all very enthusiastic and are pulling together as one man for better and better times for the farmers. Their Union is growing fast.

Senator Crawford Says High Prices Are Here to Stay

Wages Must be Correspondingly Advanced

Washington, Feb. 19. — Senator Crawford to-day addressed the senate in support of the contention that instead of wasting months and years in investigating the causes of the increase, ed prices of the necessities of life Congress should devote itself to devising a remedy. He attributed the rise of cost of living to the rapid increase of the gold supply and the corresponding increase of the per capita circulation in the United States.

He failed to find cause for regret in the situation, he said, except in so far as it affected wage earners, saying that there had not been a corresponding increase in wages. He declared that public opinion should compel such increase, thus placing the wage earner on an equal footing with the producer in the enjoyment of good times.

OBJECTS TO RAG TIME MUSIC.

Former Elizabethtown Pastor Makes 'Em Sit Up and Take Notice.

Rev. R. T. Brown, who for two years lived in Elizabethtown being the Methodist Conference evangelist for this section, is evidently making 'em 'sit up and take notice' down at Glasgow, where he is now pastor of the Methodist church. A dispatch from that place to a Louisville daily the other day gives the following:

The Rev. R. T. Brown, the new pastor of the Methodist church here, has had his congregation on the edge ever since coming to Glasgow. He exploded a bomb here some two or three Sundays since by preaching against the euchre clubs, card parties, etc. He preached a series of sermons against church members as theatre goers, and last, but not least, he made the statement here that he passed the home of one of his members and heard rag time music. The last statement caused much comment, and there were many guesses as to what particular home he referred to, as the majority of them were guilty. —Elizabethtown News.

Missouri's Farmer governor.

Jefferson City Correspondence St. Louis Globe Democrat. Governor Hadley bought a farm, 120 acres, five miles west of Jefferson City to-day. He will move his family from the Executive Mansion when warm weather sets in to spend the summer. Nothing is sweeter music in his ear, he says, than the lowing of the kine waiting to be milked, or the cackling of Missouri hens as they industriously turn out eggs for the family larder.

The Governor has two cows, both good milkers, and they will more than supply the family with milk and butter. He has two horses, which will come in handy for plowing. He has eleven dogs, which are expected to keep the rabbits from gnawing the young fruit trees.

State Treasury is Depleted Gov.
Wilson Spent $189,000 Sending Out Toy Soldiers.

A side light on those things responsible for the present depleted condition of the State Treasury has been brought out by the investigation now on, and having to do with the management and conditions of the Kentucky militia. From the testimony of witnesses, it has been developed that the State spent, during the night rider troubles, a total of $189,000 in sending State troops to first one place and then another, and in many instances without any request having been made to the Governor to send troops. It has been developed that the bill of a cavalryman alone, for horse hire to militiamen, and not including feed, was more than $10,000. This is looked upon as rank extravagance on the part of Governor, brought about by poor judgment on that part. It is generally conceded that little or no good was accomplished by means of the State militia during the night rider troubles.—Shelby Record.

Often The Kidneys Are

Weakened by Over-Work.
Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Now that the use of boiled drinking water has become common it is interesting to be reminded that a similar method of guarding against disease was practiced in ancient times. LOCAL OPTION ISSUE.

It seems strange to me that the Courier-Journal, in its reference to Maine, Kansas and other prohibition States, vary so widely as to the facts from the statement made by the responsible officers of these States.

Mr. Cahan, Secretary of the Kansas State Board, in a report to a Kansas society in Chicago refers to twenty-eight counties with no poor farm tenants, eighty-seven with no insane inmates, twenty-one counties with no convicts in the penitentiary, thirty-six with no prisoners in the reformatory, fifty-two with no prisoners serving sentence in jail.

No city in Illinois has done more in the building line or had better, business than Decatur in the last two years. We are unable to get competent labor or carry on the work here. Arrests for drunkenness here since saloons were voted out fell from 661 in eight months of 1907 to 317 in 1908 and 447 in 1910. Since the Mayor of the city got a chief of police that is doing his duty he has closed up sixty-five soft drink shops that openly sold booze of any description, up to one month ago. It seems so strange to me that I never see in the Courier-Journal any word of praise for the good effects of the no saloon in these places.

You know as I know that no man is able to handle any kind of business tanked up on booze. Why is it that the Courier-Journal constantly says in this local-option question it is being agitated by cranks and religious fanatics. You know, and as any observing and thinking man knows, that it is the law-abiding and intelligent citizens of Kentucky that have put the saloons out of so many counties of the State.

The majority of the intelligent voters of Kentucky want a county unit bill passed. They elected enough honest men to the Legislature and Senate to pass it if it was in the hands to report it.

Show me any question of this day that can enlist so many good speakers and writers without a cent of compensation. Practically all the work done along this line is gratis, and given by men for his fellowman.

It is the best of citizenship here and all over the three States I travel that is putting up this fight for this great reform. This local option movement may be one of cranks and religious fanatics, but it has not on its side the gamblers, bootleggers, lawbreakers and the men with no respect for law. Their head is the whisky bucket.

The cranks and religious fanatics are led by those that stand with the Bible in their hand for guide. Where it is not preached there is no civilization and intelligence. You don't find that little book lying around on the saloon table; it is kicked into the gutter, but when it comes to the last words said over the poor body, it is taken from that book, and not words spoken in some old saloon brawl! VELVO LAXATIVE LIVER SYRUP

PROBE TO GO DEEP IN THE SWOPE CASE
Grand Jury Will Lay Bare the Whole Mystery.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 12.—The full secret of the Swope home, the "Black House" of Independence, is to be revealed.

When the grand jurors meet today they will hear the whole story. The shielding curtain, which was rolled back for a moment at the coroner's inquest and which laid bare in a passing glance the details of the death of Colonel Swope, is to be torn aside and the recital of veiled accusations in the matter of the death of Christian Swope and in the typhoid epidemic is to be heard by the twelve men summoned by Judge Latslaw.

A score of witnesses have appeared and will be the stories related behind the closed doors of the grand jury room. The investigation is to start with the first peculiar circumstance going through the weeks of suspicion and dread to the verdict of the coroner's jury Wednesday. It is asserted that the grand jury was summoned more to investigate the circumstances surrounding Christian Swope's death than to probe further the inquiry into the manner and cause of death of his uncle. And again it will be a nurse who will give the important testimony. In the hands of the Swope attorneys is the sworn statement of this nurse, Miss Houlehan.

This statement is as dramatic as the story related by Miss Pearl Kollar on the witness stand. It tells of her being summoned to the Swope home to care for Christian Swope, who was stricken with typhoid. The nurse describes minutely the symptoms, those of the ordinary typhoid patient, the high fever, the irregular pulse.

And then it tells of the convulsions in which Christian Swope died. It was about 3:30 Sunday afternoon, the nurse states in her affidavit, that she was told Christian had been given a capsule. Thirty minutes later followed the convulsions, almost identically the same as those in which Colonel Swope died. The nurse tells of the injection of a grain of strychnine and later of the use of a nitro-glycerine injection. This was Sunday afternoon. The next day Christian died.

In Chicago the chemical analysis of the viscera of Christian Swope is still in progress. A report has not been made upon it and will not be ready for several days. Until then Coroner Sewart says he cannot say whether a coroner's inquest will be held to investigate the death or not. But the grand jury with practically unlimited power will probe and lay bare the facts.

THE BEEF TRUST.

Methods Practiced By The Packers Shown Up By Hon. Ben Johnson of Kentucky.

Washington, Feb. 14.—At the hearing before the committee which is investigating the prices of foodstuffs, Representative Johnson today brought to light the injustice being done by the beef trusts to the Kentucky and other cattle growers of the Southern States. Mr. Johnson made Inspector Repp of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, admit that the Northern packers discriminate in prices against all cattle producers south of the Ohio river. The admission was brought about as a result of a statement made by Inspector Repp that 1,000 pound steers were now selling at the principal stockyards in this country for $6.50 per hundredweight.

Mr. Johnson produced a Louisville paper wherein it was stated that the highest-priced steer on the Louisville market last Saturday brought only $5.40, while the average 1,000 pound steer sold for much less, upon being confronted with this, Inspector Repp then stated in substance, that the packers would not pay as much for a Kentucky steer as they would for an Indiana steer, notwithstanding the fact that the Kentucky steer might be just as good in every respect as the Indiana. Being pressed by Mr. Johnson, he finally admitted that it was nothing more and nothing less than a discrimination upon the part of the packers against every steer put upon the market which has been raised south of the Ohio river.

Mr. Johnson characterizes this discrimination against Kentucky steers as being nothing short of monstrous. The Kentucky member is doing fine work on this committee in behalf of the Kentucky farmer. He is the only member of the committee who lives

THE HENDERSON DAM

There is great joy down the river because of the prospective building of the Henderson dam. The official designation of Dam No. 48 is accorded to this particular project in the Ohio River improvement scheme. Its location is six miles below Henderson, Evansville, Henderson and Owensboro are intensely interested in its construction, and these cities sent delegations to Washington recently to appear before the Rivers and Harbors Committee. The estimated cost of the Henderson dam is $2,000,000, and the anticipated time of its completion is four years.

The specifications of the Government engineers call for concrete construction, and the locks will be 110 feet wide and 600 feet long. Above and below the dam will be landing approaches, each 300 feet long. The initial work, of course, will be the selection of a definite location, and this will begin very shortly after the bill is passed by Congress.

Some of the benefits of the dam, as figured out by the Evansville Courier, are that it will give a stage of fifteen feet at Evansville, eighteen feet at Henderson, twelve feet at Green River and nine feet at Owensboro. It also will make Pigeon Creek navigable for a distance of ten or twelve miles.

Evansville hopes to see many factories located on Pigeon Creek in consequence, as the location would be eligible with a good stage of water whereas it is not now practicable. The dam will complete the system of deep water lakes in Green River, and will make all the year navigation on that important stream except when there is interference from ice. It will facilitate the shipment of coal from the mines of Western Kentucky and Southern Indiana. It is expected to give new life to the projects for building a bridge across the Ohio river at Evansville and for the construction of interurban lines of Kentucky towns.

One of the cheering bits of information from Washington is that there will be an annual Rivers and Harbors bill hereafter, and that all the money spent on the Ohio river will be with a view to its ultimate canalization. The Henderson dam will be a link in the chain of deep water pools that eventually will bring the nine-foot stage from Pittsburgh to Cairo. According to the engineers' estimates, in the ordinary course of river improvements it will require twenty years to complete the canalization. If Congress ever wakes up fully to the importance of the Ohio River it may be done sooner.

The citizens of the down-river cities have a right to feel good at the prospects of the building of Dam No. 48. It would mean a great deal for the commercial interests of Southern Indiana and Western Kentucky. It would unquestionably bring a new era of development for counties that are rich in undeveloped mineral resources, and would stimulate business activity in various directions. It is to be hoped that Evansville, Owensboro, Henderson and all other towns that are looking forward in joyful anticipation of good results from the building of the dam will realize fully on their expectations.—Courier Journal.

Sport and Athletics in America. Sport and athletics in America are vastly different terms. Sport should be play, not work. Athletics as practiced in general are too strenuous, too spectacular and too exclusive. We are not an athletic nation. Far from it. IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness it Would bring to Cloverport Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back. Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that Backache pains come from sick kidneys.

It would save much needless weal. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Many residents of this vicinity endorse them. Mrs. Lizzie Burtley, Main & Cross Sts., Elizabethtown, Ky., says: "I was a sufferer for over three years from pains across my back, which were so severe after any exertion as to completely unfit me for work. My feet and ankles became so badly swollen that I could not get on my shoes at times and it pained me severely to stand. I had intense headaches and was often so dizzy that I did not dare walk upon the street. The secretions from my kidneys was distressing in passage. My brother who had been cured of kidney trouble by Doan's Kidney Pills, advised me to give them a trial and I procured a box. They gave me great relief and I continued using them until the pains in my back disappeared, the secretions from my kidneys became natural and the soreness in my limbs left. I was soon a well woman and give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

FOLLOWING THE BAND.

Pageantry Appeals to the Negro's Tropical Imagination.

Once upon a time a Philadelphia lawyer came south. He had a pair of big spectacles, an inquisitive mind, and he wanted to know, says Harris Dickson in Success Magazine, "What his southern friend he was hurrying to the courthouse. A negro parade blocked the street—negroes in carriages, on horseback, on foot, negroes with swords and axes, stumpy negroes with Masonic banners, lean negroes with Pythian devices, fat negroes with Gola Pelvies' insignia, miscellaneous negroes with miscellaneous emblems.

The Philadelphia pushed through the crowd and ran back in great excitement. "What's it all about? What are they doing?"

The southerner couldn't explain, but beckoned to a very intelligent young negro—who, by the way, was a prominent politician—and asked, "From what's the occasion for all this parade?"

The young negro laughed. "Now, judge, you ought to know that a nigger don't need no 'casion for a parade." Tom had spoken a mouthful. Pageantry appeals to the negro's tropical imagination. Churches the judges furnish most of the social life that he knows. He does not ask why the brass band is playing. He keeps step with the fellow that beats the drum and is happy.

Dr. Charcot's South Polar Expedition Failed to Reach Goal.

Punta Arenas, Feb. 12.—The Charcot Antarctic expedition on board the steamer Pourquoi Pas has arrived here, and it is expected that the vessel will remain here for some time. Dr. Charcot, it is reported, says the expedition did not reach the south pole. All the members of the expedition are well.

Exploited Sextuple Murderer.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 12.—Howard Little, who murdered Mrs. Doty Justice, her son-in-law, George Meadows and the latter's wife and three children in the home near Hurley, Buchanan county, last September, was put to death by electrocution in the penitentiary here.

SURFACE DRAINAGE OF ROADS

This is an Important Feature When Constructing Highways.

Professor J. R. Davidson of the Iowa Agricultural college, who is an authority on the drainage of highways to those interested in the construction of good roads, says that all roads should be provided with surface drainage. The cross section should be of such a shape as to shed all rain at once to the side ditches. To do this the road must be oval or have a crown and must be smooth. The first of these is a matter of construction and the latter a matter of maintenance. The side drainage system should be called upon to carry as much water as possible. Water cannot be carried away by the drains until the water has sunk through the soil and softened it.

The crown of a road should be sufficient to shed the water readily. If the road is to be maintained and kept free from ruts and holes less crown will do than if the road is to be neglected. The Iowa highway commission recommended a slope one inch to a foot for a crown in the traveled way. This is sufficient for most conditions. The crown should not be too great. A steep crown causes the travel to be concentrated at the center, where ruts will be worn and washing result. Again, there is some difficulty in vehicles passing. On the side of the wheels the wheels of the vehicles have a tendency to grind the road down. This action, together with the swerving or swaying of the lower part of the wheel, has a very marked effect. The steeper the slope of the road the more important the crown, for there is a tendency for the water to run down the track rather than to the side. If water once begins to run down the center of the road it is but a short time until the road is gullied out.

Juvenile Good Roads League.

A town in New Jersey saw the economical necessity of road improvement as a means of recapturing scholars who had gone to the city schools. A Vermont farmer declares that improved roads mean larger districts and a better grade of teachers. But good roads are costly and most costly when laid of timothy care allows them to go to pieces. A suggestion comes from Washington that junior road leagues be formed in country districts for the reason that country roads are "actual" in nature and need a day by school. It is enough to give the necessary authority to throwing out stones, opening ditches and sluices, draining off storm water, filling ruts and holes and giving notice to proper authorities of anything needing prompt attention on their part.—Harper's Bazar.

A Thought of My Old Home.

While here; in the far-away west: I often think of the country; I love the best.

Of its reeks, its rills, its meadows and fields, And woodland paths which run over the hills.

Or the stave yard, where I used to play, Of Ogleby's spring house Aunt Amanda barn;

And Skillman's branch, where I used to wade when it was warm, And of the school house upon the hill; Where I used to go and get very chilled, And then there are other places I would go.

Out on Patton's pond; or waded in snow, Or sliding down the school house hill, And some of the folks; with whom I have talked;

Have asked me, from what place I did grow? And I would say you all may know, If only you will listen a minute or so.

The County of Breckinridge; The town of Clover, Is a place on the Ohio; that no traveler looks over.

The state is Kentucky; for three things Very noted; Beautiful women; Fine horses, and a well-cultured glass;

And just who I am; Well you may guess. A last loving thought, and it is this; A memory sweet, of my parents dear; And brothers and friends, make home very near.

"Sure Cure"

"I would like to guide suffering women to a sure cure for female troubles," writes Mrs. R. E. Mercer, of Frozen Camp, W. Va.

"I have found no medicine equal to Cardui. I had suffered for about four years. Would have headache for a week at a time, until I would be nearly crazy. I took Cardui and now I never have the headache any more."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

The pains from which many women suffer every month are unnecessary. It's not safe to trust to strong drugs, right at the time of the pains.

Better to take Cardui for a while, before and after, to strengthen the system and cure the cause. This is the sensible, scientific, right way. Try it.

CLOVERPORT, KY., WEDNESDAY, FEB. 23, 1910

PLEASE DO THIS.

A special request is made to the people of Cloverport to answer their phones immediately when the bell rings. The telephone service in this city is exasperating and the trouble is not all due to the operators. In the last few weeks there has been an uproar of complaint about the telephone accommodations and the subscribers are greatly to blame, for there are many who take their time in answering their calls and some who do not answer them at all. This makes work hard for the operators at the exchange and certainly most trying to those who must use the telephone for business purposes. Let us be quick to give attention to these daily duties of the office and house-hold.

The Chicago Tribune has just completed a poll of the Republican and Independent editors, west of the Alleghenies, who were asked the following questions: "Is Cannon your choice for the next Speaker?" "Do you endorse the Aldrich-Connon tariff?" The result of this poll shows that the Republican and Independent newspapers of the middle west are overwhelmingly opposed to the selection of Joseph G. Cannon as speaker of the next house of representatives. The vote: Republicans for 546 against 2,653, Independents for 31 against 541, totals for 577 against 3,194. They are also opposed to the Aldrich tariff bill. The vote on this was Republicans for 812, against 2,653, Independents for 31 against 541, totals for 899 against 3,463.

The West is tired of Cannonism and Aldrichism. Thousands of Republican and Independent editors say so by their votes.

And interesting notes were included about Mrs. Virginia Duncan, Owensboro; Miss Mary B. Bryan, Mrs. Mary Bradley Raily and Miss Katherine Hull Billingsley, Lexington; Mrs. Hattie B. Grinnell, Leitchfield; Miss Lena Rollins, Pineville; Miss Alice Lloyd, of Lexington.

Dave Henry is one of the best auctioneers in three counties. When there's a real big sale and they want good prices for their stuff Dave generally gets the job. He has sold most everything that can be sold in this country and his ambition now is to go West and sell a circus. Mr. Henry says he will never be satisfied until he brings his big stick down on a lion or on an elephant.

Breckenridge county farmers ought to raise more hog and hominy this year and quit fooling with so much tobacco. Vic Robertson told us the other day that he used to ship out of this county a car load of stock nearly every day. Now he says he can't get a car load a week. He says the farmers are losing sight of their main point in not raising more hogs, more cattle and more sheep.

From a Republican standpoint, Senator Bradley has the pie patronage for Kentucky nailed down. Nothing goes with President Taft without the Senator's indorsement. Many Republican's now holding offices have made frequent trips to Washington with a view of holding their jobs. But if it does not suit Mr. Bradley it's time wasted.

Judge Chelf was able to preside at this term of court. He is not well but the Judge has so much energy and vitality that he won't give up. He is now recovering from an attack of grip which is still holding on to him. The Judge's friends are anxious about his condition and hope he will get strong again and be himself once more.

The people of New York and other eastern cities, are preparing to give the greatest public demonstration in honor of Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, when he arrives in this country next June, that was ever accorded any citizen on American soil. It will be an opening gun to his nomination for the presidency in 1912.

Twelve farmers of Grant county have been indicted by the Federal grand jury at Covington for alleged interference with the Interstate Commerce law. It is alleged that they tried to prevent the shipment of several hogheads of tobacco to Cincinnati, Ohio.

United States Senator, Jeff Davis, from Arkansas, in a speech last week in the United States Senate, declared that the Standard Oil Company was one of the most iniquitous and damnable trusts that ever existed.

The women out in Wyoming just vote and say nothing. Now if the women in Kentucky will promise to be just as good, we are for their suffrage.

The Democratic Opportunity.

To The Editor of The Sun—Sir: The present political situation in the country emphasizes the urgent need of a strong minority party organization.

Never has there been a better opportunity for the propagation of sound political doctrine and the advancement of proper principles. The party of the majority is weak and vulnerable and should cease to command confidence when its fallacies are exposed. The corruptions of various kinds with which it is weighed should shortly have an effect; but where can the country repose confidence?

County Unit Idea Continues To

ONE LAW ENACTED IN 38 DAYS

Measure Increasing the Salaries of All Circuit Judges Now in the Hands of the Governor — Colonel Jack Chin's Unique Plan to Prevent Men From Carrying Concealed Weapons—Legislative Review.

BY J. H. STUART.

Frankfort, Ky.—(Special).—It is impossible to write about the doings of the present legislature any week or any day without saying something about the county unit extension bill and what effect it is having on all other legislation. In fact the doings of the legislature have amounted to almost nothing so far because of the fight over this county unit matter. Just now it is claimed that the friends of that measure in the house are retarding the advancement of all bills in an effort to force a vote on the county unit bill. Every day or two some friend of the measure will make a motion to take this bill up and make it a special order for a certain day or hour. It takes a two-thirds vote of those present to thus suspend the rules, and so far the friends of the county unit have never been able to get the necessary votes to get the bill advanced. In fact the fight has been so determined that only one bill had been able to get through both branches of the legislature till 38 legislative days of the constitutional 60 had expired, and that bill was the one which in effect increases the salary of all circuit judges to $4,200 a year. This bill would probably have never been hurried up except for the powerful influence that the many circuit judges brought to bear on the members of the house and induced some of the friends and some of the enemies of the county unit measure to unite in placing that bill on its passage ahead of many others.

The senate had for a time apparently quit taking any interest in the county unit measures, but last Thursday the fight was renewed with much vigor. The committee on religion and morals was called on to report, in the regular course of business. The county unit bill No. 1 was reported without an expression of opinion, which report under the rules operated automatically to indefinitely postpone the bill. The same committee, however, had another county bill, No. 44, and before the committee could make the report on that Senator Thomas of Bourbon quoted section 46 of the constitution and demanded that the bill, No. 44, be called from the committee. This precipitated a long parliamentary fight. President Cox finally ruled that any senator had a right to call a bill from a committee after the committee had failed to report it in a reasonable time; that the committee on religion and morals had been in possession of the bill, No. 44, for a reasonable time, and that when the bill was so called from the committee it went into the orders of the day just like any other bill that had been reported to the senate without being called out. Senator Combs appealed from his decision and the senate sustained the appeal by a vote of 18 to 16. This would seem to settle the county unit measures as far as the senate is concerned, but the friends of the bill are still hoping and will take advantage of any opportunity to get the bill to a direct vote of the senate for passage.

The joint committee of the house and senate that has been investigating the adjutant general's office has not made a report yet, but one is expected in a few days. The members of the committee decline to tell what they have discovered, but it has leaked out from reliable sources that some very large amounts of money were paid out last year and year before for the services of soldiers during the night rider disturbances. One instance is cited from Hopkinsville, where the committee discovered that one livery stable owner had been paid over $10,000 for horse and vehicle hire for the use of soldiers. It is not claimed there was any graft or overcharges made by the liveryman, but the fact that such a large sum was paid out to one liveryman in one county is cited to show what an enormous sum must have been paid out in all for the same purpose.

Colonel Jack Chin, the famous turfman, who is the representative from Mercer county, has a most unique plan to prevent men from carrying pistols. He introduced a bill early in the session which provided that a man who was convicted of the offense of carrying a pistol should be declared insane and confined in an asylum. After consulting with some attorneys he concluded this measure was unconstitutional, so he has evolved another plan. When asked about it he said:

"I would make every man who wants to carry a gun pay a license fee of $2 and then require him to wear a badge on the outside of his coat containing the words, 'I am carrying a gun.' I would have the names of all those who take out a license furnished to the policemen and constables of every county and authorize them to arrest any one of them who is found with a gun and without his badge on. I think that would settle the thing, for no man would want to wear a badge of that sort, nor would he want to take the chance of being arrested for not wearing it if he carried a gun."

The bill which in effect increases the salaries of all the circuit judges in the state from $3,000 to $4,200 has passed both houses and is now in the governor's hands for approval or disapproval. The constitution prohibits the salary of any official from being raised after he is elected and enters upon the duties of his office, so this bill had to be framed so as to evade the constitutional inhibition. The bill provides that the regular judges shall act as special judges whenever they have a spare week or month in the year from their regular terms, and shall serve in other districts than their own when a special judge is necessary in that other district. It further provides that the governor shall commission each one as a special judge and for these extra or additional services they shall receive $1,200 a year. It was contended, and properly so, it is said, that the increased cost of living had been so great that a circuit judge who travels around his district pays his expenses, and that of his family at home, could hardly live on the present salary, and that it was a hard matter to get a first class lawyer to accept or run for the office. It is said that Governor Willson will approve the bill, but that is further along.

No compromise or agreement has been reached between the house and senate as to what shall be done to the state treasury and pay the deficit of over $1,000,000 that now exists. The house seems wedded to the idea of issuing interest bearing warrants, while the senate thinks the bond issue is the only proper thing. A similar condition existed in this state in 1897, and the special session of the legislature called by Governor Bradley authorized the issue of interest bearing warrants, and in the course of two years they were all taken up and the treasury was on a cash basis once more. At the same time a bond issue of $500,000 was also authorized, and that bond issue was paid off under Governor Beckham's administration. It is contended with much reason that the unusually large appropriations made by the legislature two years ago were in a large measure responsible for the present deficit, and that if the interest bearing warrants are issued so the state's creditors will not have to discount their debt, and no unusual appropriations are made this session, the deficit will disappear in two years, even without a bond issue. However, the legislature is liable to adjourn without doing anything to relieve the situation unless some of the leaders on both sides can get together and agree on some measure that will meet with the approval of the senate and house.

One of the three "good roads" bills that were introduced in the senate by Senator Bosworth has passed that body; though it was bitterly fought by Senator Thomas and several others. The bill passed provides for the establishment, regulation and maintenance of public roads and defining the duties of the state road commission and creating the office of county engineer in each county. The other two companion bills provide for the creation of a department of good roads in the state government, and provides for a special tax of 5 cents on the $100 to create a road fund to help the counties build good roads. Those who oppose these measures say they will result in all sorts of confusion and entanglements and that the additional 5-cent tax will cause the widest dissatisfaction. The friends of the measure, however, say there is no danger of entanglements and trouble, and that the masses of the people are clamoring for better roads; that they only real opposition to the bills come from those counties that already have splendid roads. They further say that these splendid roads in central Kentucky were in many instances built with state aid, and that these counties now are opposed to allowing the poorer counties the same benefits that they themselves had many years ago. Whether the bills will pass the house or not can not be safely foretold yet, but there is no denying the fact that the bill providing for an increase in the state tax rate to 55 cents on the $100 will be unpopular, especially about the time the taxes are being collected.

The movement to permit women to vote in all school elections seems to have met with many discouragements in the house, as the bill giving them that privilege has been reported unfavorably by the committee. The leading women of the state have been here in large numbers from time to time this winter urging and talking with legislators in the interest of the bill, and for a time it looked as if a chance to be enacted. ate committee has reported the bill favorably in that body, and it will probably be passed by the senate whenever it comes to a vote, but it is very doubtful the house will even consider the bill any further. The women say the men have had entire control of the schools in this state for years and years, and that the literacy in the state is due to their poor management. All they say they want is a chance to try their plan and see if better schools and more educated people will be the result.

The Deliciousness of Nonsense.

Sense is the mark of the measles on the unwashed skin of Time. Nonsense is the bloom of innocence on the unquenchable hope of humanity. Any fool can talk sense; but nonsense is the secret relaxation of the worthy and the rare. Nonsense is love; sense is merely matrimony. Nonsense is the redeeming spice of a truly cultivated taste, the sugar on the insipid strawberry, the salt in the monotonous egg, the rousing delicious on the cheeks of Circumstance.

You will have noticed that when you tell a man to get sense you merely convey your desire that he shall get to the devil. Bookmakers and politicians have sense. It is commoner than dirt, less inspiring than mud, less stimulating than warm salad. It is the worm in the apple, the fly in the ointment, the microbe in the corpse, death in life, pain in gladness, hate in love. It is the one thing that the most industrious and careful lover of himself can never entirely escape. It is like chronic gout in anotherwise sound organism. It is perversity in paradox. It is a ghoul garbed as saint. It is the open drain that poisons Arcady. It is Hell invading Paradise. It is the most obstinate and mischievous delusion of humanity. It is the creeping paralysis that kills wit. It is Psyche with an ulcerated throat.—Frank Morton, in March Smart Set.

THE NEWSPAPER MAN

Hogs sold this week in Louisville at $9.15. Corn sold at public sale in the County last week at $4.10, and everything else is higher than it has been for four years except subscription to the county paper, job printing and advertising space. There is such a demand for pork and that which makes it and for other things, and the supply is so limited that those who produce these things are "in clover." To form trusts or to pool what other people have to sell is considered right by the very people who begrudge the "poor devil" who runs a printing plant, the same money for his mental and physical labor that he received for the same service when the cost of his living expenses were less than half of what they now are. Is it fair for those who stand at the big end of the horn of plenty to refrain from giving the encouragement and consolation to a struggling brother that would accompany the payment of the trivial sum that they, as individuals, owe the news paper man but which in the aggregate amounts to a considerable sum?

Who contributes more to the uplift of a city or country than the conscientious newspaper man? Who gets more pleasure from doing his duty in all things, and more blames if he does not do it, than the newspaper man? Who is expected to please everybody, and runs a risk if he does not do so, of being boycotted, or losing the patronage of those who are not in accord with his views? who is expected to do many things for nothing, and is accused of making exorbitant charges if what he gets out of his business amounts to a bare living for himself and his family?

The newspaper man. Does anyone who believes that to conduct a newspaper is easy sailing, and that their is big money in the business, want to trade a fairly good farm for the best county newspaper in the state? If he does, he is invited to come with his proposition to the Shelby Record office. Proposition from those who are in arrears for subscription, job printing or advertising will not be entertained until after full settlement of such claims have been made.—Shelby Record
